JOB WORK.

The Republicans in Chicago will view with feelings of sympathy and indignation Lovett's speech of their condemned comrades. The Chicago Board of Trade and the Farmers' Alliance of Illinois find in the Lovett thing that a real anarchist is found of though it is very likely that Feehan and Schwab will have plenty of time to thoroughly appreciate what they have lost in not being honest working men.

The usual Governors' Thanks-giving proclamations from the governors of the different states has arrived. Every one has a resolutions governor strives to outdo his colleagues in the composition of his proclamation. The most remarkable this year is that of Governor Lounsbury of Connecticut. His proclamation opens as follows: "There is now no special reason for thanks more than that which has marked the years that are gone, but of all of Heaven's gifts to men life's common blessings are always the sweetest and the best, and so in accordance with a custom that is hallowed by all the ties that bind us to the past and which reaches on to the future in universal expectation, I hereby appoint" etc.

The Springfield Republican has made a very interesting summary of what has been attempted this year in the way of amending state constitutions. Singularly enough in all cases but one those attempts have been defeated. Kentucky and Delaware voted down propositions to hold state constitutional conventions, Maryland defeated an amendment proposed and supported by the Gorman ring for the purpose of securing a new set of judges in place of those who perfunctorily gave duty in purifying the Baltimore registration lists. Texas, Tennessee, Michigan and Oregon have voted down prohibition amendments. Rhode Island has defeated a woman suffrage amendment by a large majority. The only important amendment adopted is that in California which concentrates the authority of municipal government in one man.

The Chicago, Burlington and Missouri has lowered the rate of freight from the Missouri river to Denver, and the rate will go into effect on the 15th of December. The following table, taken from the Denver Republican, shows the amount of decrease:

	First Class	Second Class	Third Class	Fourth Class	Fifth Class
Old rate	2 50	1 70	1 45	1 15	1 00
New rate	1 80	1 30	1 20	90	75
	Class A	Class B	Class C	Class D	Class E
Old rate	75	65	55	50	40
New rate	60	50	50	45	35
				Lumber, Salt,
Old rate				50	45
New rate				45	35

Mr. George H. Crosby, the general agent of the Colorado Lay Bureau, working for this reduction of rates, says: "For these efforts the shippers of Colorado should be thankful. The Burlington has always been a popular road for the people of Colorado, and by taking the initiative in the reduction of rates shows that it deserved this confidence and popularity."

The expenditures of the New York press for news and mechanical appliances for producing newspapers are astonishing. The New York Tribune will put into its press room, before the first of January next, three presses worth forty thousand dollars each. Each of these presses has a capacity of twenty-four thousand copies an hour, so that the total capacity of the three presses will be seventy-two thousand an hour. The machinery is so made that it will fold a supplement into the regular edition and also paste the sheets together. The force at present employed on the Tribune numbers over one hundred. Since 1875 Mr. Horace Greeley's death it has had the misfortune to receive no such increase in its life. It invested in the Tribune building, but the first floor is so much as to show that the rest went largely in debt for some years. The paper now is on a solid financial basis, paying handsomely. There is no better evidence of the truth of the purchase of a dollar's worth of property. The rather common prejudice of its editorial page against "Republicans in the paper above" has driven away many readers. It was absolutely the best paper published in New York city. Its foreign correspondence is unsurpassed. Its market reports were carefully edited. Part of the charm of the paper that interests working people. It ignores criminal news and kindly gossip, omitting any reading matter that should be excluded from a home. This can hardly be said of any other journal of repute in New York. Its dramatic and literary notices are full and its criticisms on the stage are always fair and well grounded. The success of the New York Weekly Tribune is astonishing. Over [illegible] copies are printed every week, and [illegible] though it is the cheapest weekly published in the country. The Weekly Tribune is the best [illegible] and not as much as the Tribune deserves.
